YOUNG MURRAYAN KILLED, FATHER HURT

Mrs. Ollie Cain Dies Early Today

Mrs. Ollie Cain, age 88, passed away this morning at 8:30 o'clock at the Murray Hospital following an extended illness.

Survivors include a daughter, Miss Lala Cain of 901 Olive; one son, Charlie Cain of Mayfield; two grandchildren, Mrs. W. L. Parr of Memphis and Jerry C. Cain of Louisville; five great grandchildren; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Cain was a member of the North Pleasant Grove Presbyterian Church.

The funeral will be held in the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home at 2:00 p. m. on Tuesday, December 4, with Rev. Ed Glover and Rev. Bruce Crill officiating. Burial will be in the city cemetery.

Friends may call at the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home until the funeral hour.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The Average man has five senses: touch, taste, sight, smell and hearing. The successful man has two more: horse and common.

Blaise Pascal, however, he stated it. When he was president, he gave his salary back to the government. Now they're making all of us do the same thing.

The minister, returning from an early morning call noticed one of his church members staggering home from the local pub.

"Let me help you to the door," he told the man. At the door, the tipsy man urged the minister to come in, but he begged off because of the late hour.

"Pleash, revern, jush for a minute," he asked. "I want my wife to see who I been out with tonight."

Marvin Wade has supplied us with the copy of "What is a wife" and "What is a husband," both written by the same fellow who wrote "What is a Boy."

They are just as entertaining, but much too long to print.

Included with the two pieces was another short poem which goes as follows:

The bride, white of hair
Strides over her cane
Her footsteps uncertain need guiding.

While down the church aisle,
With a waltz toothless smile,
The groom in a wheelchair comes gliding.

And who is this elderly couple thus wed?
You'll find when you're closely explored it.
That here is that rare, most conservative pair.

Who waited 'till they could afford it.

Scotch Pine is being set out in the planters around the square. Noticed Mrs. Ila Douglas giving the one on her corner some water.

Clyde Steele was doing the same for those on the courthouse lawn. Might be a good idea to give them a little water at first, especially if the weather continues to be dry.

Folks who run businesses nearest the planters could help out with this chore.

PARTY CANCELLED

The Garden Department party, which was scheduled for this Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ed Frank Kirk, has been cancelled.

The next meeting of the department will be held on January 3.

Atlantic Storm Drifts Southward

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UP) — A fierce Atlantic storm drifted slowly southward today and battered the Atlantic Seaboard with gale winds and high tides. No relief was in sight.

The storm is expected to drift a little southward in the next few hours with a tendency to become stationary," the Weather Bureau said. "Therefore no relief is in sight and residents in the affected areas can look for more of the same."

The week-old storm drifted slowly southward Sunday and the latest advisory located it about 250 miles due east of here.

Gale warnings were displayed from Myrtle Beach, S. C. to the Virginia Capes and small craft warnings remained in effect along the coast from Cape Canaveral to Cape May, N. J.

Winds up to 65 miles per hour were reported in heavy squalls near the center of the storm. Rough seas and tides up to three feet above normal continued to plague coastal areas from Virginia southward to northern Florida, causing serious beach erosion and minor flooding.

Weather Bureau forecasters were puzzled by the erratic behavior of the storm which remained stationary at times last week but retained its strength.

Walter Hall, a Weather Bureau forecaster here for 35 years, called the storm the most unusual he had ever seen. The direction of the storm has changed frequently.

Three crewmen were rescued from the North Carolina ferry system work boat Sunday after the vessel began listing to port and taking on water in rough seas off Pamlico Sound near Manteo, N. C.

SENATOR VISITS

Visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Farley on Wednesday night was State Senator Marvin Edwards of Lawrenceburg, Kentucky. Senator Edwards was in Murray on business during the day and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Farley and sons Sammy, Oatman and Dickie.

Weather Report

High Sunday ..... 70
Low Sunday ..... 34
7:15 Today ..... 36

Western Kentucky — Considerable rain and wind this afternoon through Tuesday. Chance of occasional light rain beginning west tonight and spreading into south — central portion Tuesday. High this afternoon and Tuesday in the 50s, low tonight 42 to 45.

Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Allibetton and nine junior and senior students of agriculture at Murray State College were in Chicago, Illinois last week attending the 63rd International Livestock Exposition and Horse Show. This trip is sponsored each year by the Agriculture Club at Murray State. It provides an opportunity for students to see championship stock in competition from the leading farms and ranches of the world.

The group enjoyed other points of interest and visited the Chicago Board of Trade, the world's largest grain exchange, the Museum of Science and Industry and the Adler Planetarium and Astronomical Museum.

Dr. and Mrs. Allibetton attended the Friday evening performance of the critics' award winning musical "Carousel," featuring the original Broadway Stars, Anna Maria Allibetton and Jeffery Orbach.

A construction contract for an addition to the married student housing project at Murray State College was awarded today to Seth E. Geim and Associates, Paducah, on a low bid of $134,500. This is one of four two-story buildings planned for married students attending the college. Three will have 12 one-bedroom apartments each and the four-unit will have the same number of two-bedroom units. Other construction projects now underway at Murray have a total estimated cost of $3.8 million. Included is the first portion of the married student housing now being built by Hal Perry, general contractor, Benton, for $411,470. McLoney, Tune and Clark, Lexington-architects, designed the building shown above.

Henry Ward Will Not Run For Office

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP) — State Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward said today he will not become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Ward removed himself from further consideration as a running mate for administration gubernatorial choice Edward T. (Ned) Breathitt in a statement released by his office while Ward was in Florida.

The announcement ended speculation as to Ward's decision and rumors that his health, plus the defeat of Democratic senatorial candidate Wilson W. Wyatt in the November elections, would keep him out of the race.

It also left Gov. Bert T. Combs and administration forces free to shift to another candidate, with Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge and state Supt. of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler regarded as the most likely choices.

Ward's statement did little to clarify whether it was based primarily on medical, political or personal considerations.

Ward did say in his statement, "I reached this decision almost a month ago on personal considerations, as well as the advice of my doctors."

The phrase "almost a month ago" probably could be interpreted by those who preferred to do

Company Receives Contract For Barkley Reservoir Clearing

The Appalachian Contracting Company of Robbinsville, North Carolina, was awarded the contract for initial clearing on Barkley Reservoir at 3:00 p. m. on Friday it was announced by Colonel James B. Newman III, District Engineer of the Nashville District, Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army.

Newman stated that after an analysis of the apparent low individual bids on the five units, the low bids for Units two and four, submitted by the L. H. Simkins Company of Augusta, Georgia, were rejected as being non-responsive.

The Colonel further stated that the bid submitted by Herman H. West and Company of Murphy, North Carolina, on Unit three in the amount of $1,881,400.00, exceeded the Government estimate, which does not include profit, by more than 25 percent, therefore, this bid was rejected. There was no other combination of bids received which could be accepted that would be lower than the bid submitted by the Appalachian Contracting Company for all units, Newman said. The all-unit bid, in the amount of $1,881,400.00, exceeded the Government estimate, which does not include profit, by approximately 9.25 percent.

The reservoir clearing will start at the Barkley Dam site, river mile 30.6, and extend upstream to approximately mile 55.5, with Lyon, Boone and Livingston Counties, Kentucky, involved. The successful bidder will be required to complete the work within 300 calendar days.

Advance notices have been mailed to prospective bidders for clearing of the second segment, Units 4, 7, 8, 9 and 10, on Barkley Reservoir which will start at river mile 55.5 and extend upstream to Lock and Dam D, river 88.0. Bids will be opened on or about January 15, 1963.

Royalty Ball To Be Held On Friday

The annual "Royalty Ball" will be presented Friday, December 7, in the Student Union Ballroom at Murray State College.

Sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, the informal dance will feature "Dr. Feelgood and the Inters."

A highlight will be the crowning of the Queen of the Ball, to be selected from representatives of campus-wide organizations.

The dance will begin at 8 o'clock. Advanced tickets can be purchased for $2.00 from any member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Duets will cost $2.50 at the door.

Wanted Gunman Is Captured Today In Hollywood Apartment

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP) — Veteran bank robber John Kinchloe DeJarnette, who boasted he would never be taken alive, was captured early today by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which only recently placed him on its 10 Most Wanted list.

DeJarnette, a native of Hardinsburg, Ky., was wanted for the holdup of two branch banks in Louisville and one in Cincinnati, Ohio, that netted him nearly $100,000 in loot in little more than a month's time.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said the gunman "was not given an opportunity to resist." The local agent in charge of the FBI refused to elaborate on how the gunman was captured.

DeJarnette was seized in a Hollywood apartment he shared with his girl friend, Doris Lee Nelson, 28, wanted on a narcotics charge.

Three fully loaded guns were seized in DeJarnette's apartment along with a briefcase stuffed with an undetermined number of $5 and $100 bills, the FBI said.

Described as a "fast moving, highly dangerous, veteran, gunman," DeJarnette is charged with the commission of three bank robberies in a 42-day period.

DeJarnette and his girl friend were registered as Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and had been living at the apartment since last Saturday.

Hoover said DeJarnette has spent most of his adult life in prison and attempted three jail breaks, once by tossing a "Molotov cocktail," which injured a prison guard.

DeJarnette, Hoover said, is charged with robbing the Seventh and Hill Branch of the Liberty National Bank and Trust Co., Louisville, Ky., of almost $24,000 on Sept. 10, 1962; the Highlands Branch of the same bank of more than $36,000 exactly one month later, and the Madison branch of the Provident Bank of Cincinnati of nearly $38,000 on Oct. 22, 1962.

Third Parole Violation

He also was sought for violation of parole from a federal prison—his third parole violation charge.

DeJarnette's girl friend was charged by the FBI with fleeing from the state to avoid prosecution on a charge of obtaining narcotics by fraud and deceit. The complaint was filed in Louisville.

DeJarnette, who was placed on the 10 Most Wanted Men list only last Friday, has an arrest record dating back to 1936.

A known user of narcotics, the FBI said he served prison sentences for armed robbery, and possession of burglar tools.

During one of his prison terms, he was caught tunneling his way through a prison wall and on another breakout attempt he tried to cut his way through the bars of a prison hospital.

DeJarnette and Miss Nelson were to be arraigned in Los Angeles today, the FBI said.

Murray Water Works Superintendent Rob H. Huie, left, presents awards to other water works superintendents for outstanding achievement in sewage treatment for 1962. Huie is president of the Kentucky Association of Water and Sewage Plant Operators' Association. Award presentations were made during a recent Water and Sewage Plant Operators' School in Frankfort. Sponsored by Public Health Engineering and Water Pollution Control Commission of the Kentucky Department of Health, the school attracted over 200 water and sewage plant operators throughout the state. Virus removal in drinking water and waste water, fluoridation, and water and sewage works financing under the Area Redevelopment Administration were among topics discussed at the meeting. Receiving the awards are A. E. Robison, center, superintendent of Owensboro Water Works and Earl T. Mitchell, superintendent of Paducah Water Works.

Edward Kirk Killed In Auto Accident Sunday Near Glasgow

The community was shocked yesterday to hear of the tragic death of Edward F. Kirk, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frank Kirk of 603 Main Street.

Young Kirk was fatally injured yesterday morning at 10:30 as he and his father were proceeding toward Louisville in a Duiguid Furniture Company truck. The accident occurred yesterday on U.S. 31-W near Bonnettsville in Hart County. They were taking some furniture to Louisville to the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk's daughter, Edwina, whose marriage has been set for December 30.

The exact details of the accident have not been learned, however apparently no other car was involved.

The truck overturned, striking an abutment, then skidding off the highway. Young Kirk apparently was killed instantly, suffering a skull fracture.

His father, Ed Frank Kirk, suffered a broken collar bone, a deep laceration on the top of his head, a mild concussion and numerous bruises.

The truck was demolished and the new furniture a total loss, breaking up on the highway. Dean W. G. Nash, coming toward Murray from Louisville saw the truck and broken furniture on the highway, but did not learn of the

Library Workshop Well Attended Here

A library workshop was held recently at the Purchase Regional Library Headquarters in Murray with more than thirty interested persons attending. Following the welcome by Mrs. Edna Darnell, Robert Ritchie, Business Manager of the Department of Libraries from Frankfort, gave a talk of much interest to the local librarians.

Howard Thompson of Atlanta, Georgia, spoke on the services available through the American Lending Library. The group adjourned for lunch at the Triangle Inn, after which Mrs. Lochie Hart gave an inspiring talk on "Why I am a Librarian." Miss Rezaia Senter, of the Library Science Department of Murray State College, brought several members of her class to assist in a book-binding demonstration.

These meetings are held in cooperation with the Pennyrite Region and Miss Mary W. Eldred, Regional Librarian, was present along with several others from that region. Purchase Regional counties represented were Graves, Marshall, Calloway, and Hickman.

Tip Curd Stage Manager Of Play

Charles Tipton Curd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Curd, Route 2, Murray, has been named stage manager of "The Young and the Fair" at David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn.

A graduate of New Concord High School, Curd is a tenth-year student majoring in speech. He is a member of the Student National Education Association, elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, vice-president of the Footlighters Drama Club, a member of the College Civitan Club, and the Men's Glee Club.

This fall dramatic production by N. Richard Nash concerns a boarding school for wealthy girls and one girl who breaks the convention to assert her independence. Under its new policy adopting year-round operation with four quarters instead of the usual three offered each year, Lipscomb has replaced its former freshman sophomore, junior, and senior class organizations with the Greek letter clubs. Each club includes one-sixth of the student body of 1471 with members selected by the IBM machine. Named Alpha, Beta, Delta, Gamma, Kappa, and Sigma, the Greek letter clubs sponsor various extra curricular activities, social affairs, and provide leadership in general for campus events.

Murray Wins First OVC Cross Country

Murray State College won the first cross-country meet sanctioned by the Ohio Valley Conference Saturday with the low score of 30 points.

As the Racers continued their domination of track and field competition they, at the same time, stopped their number one rival short as Western pulled up in second place with 48 points.

Host Tennessee Tech was third with 60 points and Eastern Kentucky was fourth with 73.

Murray's Curt Sanders was first among individual finishers with a time of 21 minutes and 35 seconds for the four-mile course at the Cookeville Golf and Country Club.

Murray's Larry Whalen finished fourth and Frankie Crowe seventh. Medals were awarded to each of the first ten.

Salvation Army Truck Here Next Tuesday

Quotes From The News

By United Press International

WASHINGTON — Federal Communications Commission Chairman Newton M. Minow, calling for further improvements in television programming:

"There could be many more higher levels to be reached in television, particularly for young people . . ."

NEW YORK — Perfume manufacturer Edouard Cour-and, warning against perfume counterfeiters:

"If you are offered a bargain on top name perfumes by a taxi driver, elevator operator, door-to-door salesman or cut-rate store—don't buy. You'll be buying counterfeit or watered perfume at best."

UNITED NATIONS — Secretary General Thant, on the U.N. role in the Cuban crisis:

"There may be many who may wish for a more complete and comprehensive solution of the Cuban crisis, but in this imperfect world, we have, at least for the moment, to accept less than perfect solutions."

WASHINGTON — Internal Revenue Service Director Mortimer S. Caplin, with some good news on proposed changes in business and travel tax deductions:

"In certain items we may have gone too far. I think you can look forward to some good corrections."

Ten Years Ago Today

Ledger and Times File

The Murray Lions Club will hold a special meeting tonight at Murray High School for the purpose of organizing the local Civilian Observation Corps.

Three former Calloway County residents met a tragic death Saturday night about 6:30 when their automobile crashed head-on into another car. John Holland and Prentice Thornton were killed immediately and Mrs. Holland died on arrival at the hospital. The three lived in Wayne, Michigan.

Donations continue to come in for Mr. and Mrs. Ed
Carter who lost their home by fire last week on Thanksgiving Day.

Fred Wilson and his father, Greene O. Wilson, returned last night after a successful deer hunt in Michigan. Both Fred and his father got a deer.

In the Tradition of Walter Camp, 1962 All-America Football Team Named By Votes of Nation's College Coaches

College in 10 states placed players on the 1962 edition of the Original All-America, selected by the American Football Coaches Association.

Two of the All-Americans are enrolled in Oregon schools.

Only one player from last year's All-America is re-elected. Bob Bell, Minnesota tackle. Three of the '62 choices are from the Far West—quarterback Terry Baker of Oregon State, tackle Steve Barnett of Oregon and end Hal Bedole of the University of Southern California. The Middle

West placed three players on the team, the South four and the East one.

Voting by the coaches for the All-America team, sponsored for the third year by Eastern Kodak Company, was based on careful evaluation of each player's season performance. The review included slow motion analysis of game movies. First-team choices for the 1962 edition of the Original All-America, which dates back to 1909 when Yale's Walter Camp picked the initial squad, are:

Terry Baker, q.b.,
Oregon State

Roger Kochman, h.b.,
Penn State

Jerry Stovall, h.b.,

North Edges Falcons 27-25

North Marshall came roaring from behind to grasp a two-point edge at halftime, 27-25, and never let up in the second half as the Jots bounded away to a 77-57 win over Hickman County.

Barrett was the big gun for the Marshall County quintet with 26 points. Copeland had 16 for the Falcons.

College High Colts Win On Friday

The Murray College High Colts took a 55-51 win from Fancy Farm Friday on the Golden Gopher Floor. It was the third straight win for the Colts.

But the Colts had to fight from behind all the way and then battle to victory in an overtime period. Fancy Farm led 11-5 at the end of the first quarter and 21-16 at halftime.

Murray State Places Two On All Conference

LOUISVILLE UP — In a league that produced four co-champions it's only to be expected that there would be more than one Coach of the Year, and that was the situation today in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Their fellow OVC mentors handed the honors to coaches Guy Penny of Morehead State and Star Wood of East Tennessee.
Their teams shared the conference title with Eastern Kentucky and Middle Tennessee, but they both entered the race as dark horses at best and went on to win a share of the OVC gridiron title for the first time for their schools.

Wood's East Tennessee team took the lion's share of honors on the all-Conference team, placing four on the first eleven, headed by quarterback Jimmy Baker. The other Pirates to win top honors were tackle Pat Carter, guard Harry Harman, and center Jerry Kirk.

Eastern Kentucky's Maroons placed two on the first team—halfback Jimmy Chittum and guard Ken Goodhue, while Murray also was represented by a pair, end Gary Foltz and fullback Tommy Glover.

DeCourley Named Completing the first team were Middle Tennessee and George Dykes, Morehead tackle Ernie DeCourley and Tennessee Tech halfback Jim Schaeffer.

Baker and Chittum, who between them divided up most of the conference yard — gaining yards, were the top vote-getters among the coaches, who picked the all-Conference team. Each drew six votes for first team and one for second team honors. Foltz and Glover also were top-heavy choices.

The closest voting was at the other halfback, where Schaeffer edged Howard Murphy of Morehead by one vote and Western Kentucky's Jim Burt by two votes.
Heading the second team vote-getters was Middle Tennessee tackle Wayne Winters. The first never quite able to romp away into a big lead. Benton trailed 29-36 at halftime and 41-50 at the end of the third quarter.

Niemi led the Indians with 20 points. Brown tossed in 20 for the victors.

Slashing Of Flue-Cured Tobacco Seen

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN of United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has hinted strongly that the 1963 national acreage allotment for flue-cured tobacco will be slashed below the 745,238 acres allotted for the 1962 crop.

Freeman said the heavy carry-over plus the large crop this year may force an acreage cut for next year. Under the price support program, he must set the 1963 acreage by Dec. 1. He does not have to announce price support rates until early in 1963.

Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., of the House Agriculture Committee, believes that a "realistic decrease" in flue-cured acreage is justified "in the hope that production may be brought more nearly into line with consumer demand." Cooley said that if flue-cured tobacco acreage should be cut even as much as 10 per cent, "I am certain that the farmers will willingly accept such a reduction."

The thinking of Freeman and the House farm boss was brought out during a meeting with reporters after their conference on the use of the chemical mh-30 on tobacco.

MH-30, known formally as maleic hydrazide, is used as a spray to control suckers on tobacco plants. MH-30 is cheap and is easy to apply. It does away with use of slow and expensive hand labor. It also increases yields of tobacco. But, according to the Agriculture Department, it impairs the quality of tobacco and has caused a slowdown in the expansion of export trade in the leaf.

The second report on the sign-each panel was a painting of a girl getting out of one of the Mailing cars, the faces and pictures had almost household familiarity.

At the far end of this office was a large desk, fairly close to the wall. Behind the desk sat James Wedlake, the sales director of Mailing Motors.

Wedlake stood up as Rollison entered. He was a burly, red faced, powerful looking man, and his face had a one time been as familiar as those on the walls, for he had been a racing driver of remarkable success and colorful reputation.

The years and probably much whisky had taken their toll, but there was something reckless about him, something aggressive in the way he stood up, said, "All right, Chace," then rounded his head and came forward with a big hand outstretched.

His hand could have crushed Rollison's had Rollison been unwary. As it was, he gripped very tightly, and then let go.

"Mr. Rollison, do you know where Holmes is?" Wedlake asked abruptly.

"I only know that he's disappeared."

"Any mystery about it? I mean anything that would normally bring you into it as a private eye?"

"Yes," Rollison said. "Tell me, why was Holmes brought back in a hurry?"

"For normal business consultations, that's all. He's been away for two years, and that's long enough. We've got our annual sales conference next week, and we've got to have an up-to-the-minute report on the American sales position before."

He broke off, astonished, for Rollison, having sat down, eased himself to his feet, and picked up his hat and stick. He beamed at Wedlake, and had the satisfaction of rendering the sales director completely speechless.

"Good morning," he said politely.

Wedlake exploded: "Where the hell do you think you're going?"

"Home."

"Are you mad?"

"Oh, no, not mad. Just not sufficiently glib."

"What are you driving at?"

"Holmes seems to be in some kind of trouble. Mailing Motors seems to be in some kind of trouble, one or two people on the wings have been caught up in that trouble, but we won't get anywhere if the Mailing Motors policy is one of the big lie," explained Rollison.

JOHN CREASEY Thriller A ROCKET FOR ROLLISON

WHAT IS HAPPENED? I went toward the door and as he did so, heard a man hurrying up the stairs, and a moment later recognized Mike Kennedy. His voice as Mike spoke to the policeman in on duty at the landing. Rollison glanced at Kate. Her eyes lit up as she recognized the voice, almost as if she knew it. Kennedy's lit up when he saw her.

"My, it's good to see you!" he greeted, and took both her hands. He glanced at Rollison, but from that moment on seemed almost oblivious of him. "Well, it nothing else you owe me a good night's sleep!" he exclaimed. "Now, tell me..."

TWENTY minutes afterward, a parking attendant at Hickley Square found room for him to park the Roll-Bentley almost outside the showrooms of Mailing Motors Limited.

In a doorway opposite was a man from Spotsland Yard, and another plainclothes detective was studying several models in the big windows.

Rollison went into the doorway at the side of the showrooms. He asked for Mr. Wedlake, was taken up to the fourth floor and received by a nice-looking brunette whose hair was brushed smoothly back from her forehead.

"Have you an appointment, sir?" She gave him a professional smile.

"Not yet, Rollison said. "Tell me I've come to see you about Maurice Holmes, will you?" He handed her his card. On one side there was the simple announcement of his name and address, but on the other was a skillfully drawn drawing of a top hat set at a jaunty angle, a monocle, a cigarette burning from a holder, and a bow tie; in fact it was a drawing of a man without a face.

The girl glanced down, saw it, and exclaimed: "So there's something wrong!"

She leaned forward, pressed a button on a telephone, and a moment later said: "Mr. Wedlake, the Toff is here to see—"

She broke off, as if in confusion, and corrected herself quickly: "I mean, the Honorable Richard Rollison has called to see you, and he has some news of Mr. Holmes." There was a moment's pause, and then she said: "Yes, sir, right away."

She put down the receiver, stood up, and said: "Will you come this way?"

It was a long, narrow, padded office. The carpet was a wine red color, and Rollison's feet seemed to sink into it. On

CHAPTER 19
"MAY I use your telephone?"

Richard Rollison asked Kate Grace.

As she pointed towards it, he went across, pulled the cord, and asked for Miss Grice.

Grice Kate stood looking at him, and he appeared to be taking little notice of her, but in fact he was studying her expression all the time.

When Grice came on the line, Rollison said: "The girl was with Flat Nose at the airport last night, Bill. He talked about his sister. I think you might get something out of him if you let him know what's happened. If you'd like some help, I'll break off."

"He's due here at noon for questioning," Grice said. "If you're through with Mailing Motors by noon, why not come along?"

"What name does he give himself?"

"Bennett."

"Bill," he rang off and stood tapping the telephone with the edge of the photograph, and was not surprised when Kate Lawson asked in an uneasy voice: "Is that girl dead?"

"Yes," Rollison answered bluntly.

"Is it the girl who was found strangled at a house in St. John's Wood last night? There was a news item about it on the radio soon after I woke."

"The same girl," Rollison assured her. He slipped the photograph into his pocket and said, "Look at yourself, Kate."

so as meaning "right after the November elections."

The highway commissioner said "I am forced to make a decision as to whether I should direct my energies toward such programs as highways and state parks, or to become an active participant in the realm of politics."

Cannot Do Both

He said it did not appear possible, and he had been so advised, "that one should attempt to separate his energies to such an extent that on one hand he will attempt to carry forward an interest in programs of this type, and at the same time become actively identified as a candidate for public office."

Because of his long standing interest in the advance of these programs, Ward said, "My preference is to stick to them instead of attempting to seek advancement in political life."

Ward spent several days in a Louisville hospital immediately after the election, and was confined to his home in Louisville for several days after that.

The exact nature of his ailment has not been disclosed. Some Frankfort reports had it that he was a sick man than was generally known.

Breathitt has said on several occasions in the past two weeks that he was committed to Ward as his running mate, and hoped he would decide to make the race, once finally stated that Ward would be the candidate for lieutenant governor.

Geta Warm Greeting.

When the former Paducah newspaper editor appeared at the opening of Breathitt's campaign headquarters in Louisville Saturday, he received all the hoopla treatment usually reserved for a candidate.

details of the accident until he reached Murray.

The two were removed to a Glasgow hospital, then brought to Murray by J. H. Churchill ambulance. Mr. Kirk is now at the Murray hospital where he is reported in good condition.

Edward has been described as a fine young man, well liked by his class mates and teachers at Murray High School.

Edward's funeral will be held Tuesday morning at 10:30 at the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home chapel with Rev. J. Howard Nichols and Rev. Howard Mischke officiating.

Burial will be in the city cemetery. Active pallbearers will be members of Explorer Post 45.

Survivors are his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ed Frank Kirk of 603 Main; a sister Miss Edwina Kirk of Fern Creek, Kentucky; a brother Ronnie of 603 Main; grandparents Mrs. Kate Kirk and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hale.

Miss Edwina Kirk and her fiancé, Frank Yates of Mayfield, arrived in Murray last night. Both are employed by the Jefferson County Board of Education and teach at Fern Creek, Kentucky and Middletown, Kentucky, respectively.

Edward was a sophomore at Murray High School and a member of the First Christian Church. He was a member of the Murray Junior High Football team, and of Explorer Post 45.

Friends may call at the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home until the funeral hour.

Warning Given Students On Smoking

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American Cancer Society today began distribution of a question-and-answer booklet warning high school students against the dangers of cigarette smoking.

High school students have "the greatest concern and involvement" with questions of whether they should take up smoking, the booklet declares.

Among points made in the series of answers:

The lung cancer death rate among smokers is 10 times that of non-smokers; no cigarette is completely free of tar and nicotine; smokers may get lung or mouth cancers even if they do not inhale; the odds against being cured of lung cancer are 20-1; pipe and cigar smokers run little risk of getting lung cancer, but even they are four times as likely to develop cancer of the mouth or larynx than are non-smokers; heart disease and ulcers may also

The booklet delves into biological, social, psychological, and economic aspects of smoking as well.

It admits that "If everybody stopped smoking, it would have a severe effect on our economy" since Americans spend over $7 billion a year on tobacco products. It notes that many teen-agers begin smoking "as a form of protest against parental or school authority."

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by Maurice Ryan

Does sleeping posture effect walking habits?

I have heard only one lecture that touched upon the subject.

It was the opinion of this authority that there has been an increase of cases of pigeon toes and splay-foot (like a duck) since it has become popular to train babies to sleep on their stomachs. The speaker pointed out that other animals that are anatomically similar to humans sleep on their sides.

My experience in the shoe store has been that almost all pigeon-toed children sleep on their stomachs with their toes turned in. Three mothers who retained their children to sleep on their sides have commented on improvement in walking.

It is interesting to note that the left foot of a right handed child is more likely to toe-in than the right foot is.
